In a nutshell, Pockem up is a puzzle game, the creators of which attempt to recreate a certain game while making their own. In other words, it's a game, that makes you play a game, and plays with your mind. Installation The application itself is a stand-alone executable for Windows, and installs with a single click. The controls weren't intuitive, but it felt as if you were being thrown into the deep end, with no real way to get yourself out. Initially, you need to enter an option that allows you to see the items you've used, along with a way to select which items will be used next. The two options are "Coins" and "Star". You are to select the second option, and select the number of stars you need. After this, you're free to start playing. In terms of how this is done, it's all about tapping a puzzle, and making it disappear. Unfortunately
